Day 12

Reykjavik

During your time in Reykjavik, you can explore at your leisure and we've included several sightseeing activities to make the most of your stay.

Local guides will provide you with all the essential information regarding Reykjavík's rich culture, history and natural environment. You also have the freedom to choose which days you will enjoy your included sightseeing tours.

Reykjavik City Card: Duration 48 hours

Reykjavik's special City Card makes it easier for you to connect with the extraordinary cultural scene and vibrant city life. Your Reykjavík City Card is valid for 48 hours and gives you free admission to all of Reykjavik's famous thermal pools, a great many museums, galleries and other attractions, with unlimited travel on Reykjavik buses and the ferry to Viðey Island. The City Card also entitles you to discounts at selected shops and restaurants, plus free internet access at Reykjavík City Hall.

Reykjavik Private Walking Tour: Duration 2-2.5 hours

The tour is like a crash course in everything Reykjavík with a new friend that can't wait to show you their quirky little city. Because this tour is a private activity, the speed and content of the tour can be tailored to your needs and interest, so whether you want to cover a lot of ground in a short time or take it easy and taste some local delicacies on the way – we got you covered.

Note: it pays to decide early & confirm when you will do this tour, to make sure there is time available for your private tour. It's also good to do early in your stay because the guide will help get you ready to explore on your own after the tour.

Golden Circle Tour: Duration 8 hours

This most popular tour takes you to Iceland's most famous landmarks and adds a visit to Fridheimar Greenhouse. It's the classic Golden Circle with a sustainable twist that includes highlights such as Geysir geothermal area, Gullfoss waterfall and Thingvellir National Park.
